UNION PROSPECTS IN FUHRIEN.

Hongkong, November 18 1909. 1424.

(From Our Amoy Correspondent.)

Union is in the air just now. Perhaps as one of the results of the Edinburgh Conference last June, and the appointment of-n'al-Continuation Committee," a-large number of Missionaries are meeting together at Foochow to discuss Educational Union in the Fuhkien Province. There are three Methodist Bishops up there, as well as the Church of England, Bishop Price, and representatives of the three Missions in Amoy have also gone up to meet the Foothow Missionaries, so as to have a united conference on the subject. No one can deny that the Protestant Missions stand to gain immensely by drawing nearer together in all well-thought schemes for Union, whether in education or in general mission work."

SOCIAL CHANGES. - Mr May of the Customs has gone home for a holiday: Mr El Stevens, our genial Harbour-master, is, transferred to Pakhoi. amid the regrets of his many friends : Mr J. S. Fenwick of Messrs Boyd and Co., has returned to Port, and received a hearty welcome. In Missionary circles, Dr J. H. Montgomery and his wife and childrenleave us this week for Hongkong to catch the next Japanese Mail, for a well-carned furlough in Ireland. Unfortunately his hospital at Chang Poo will have to remain closed until his return, since the E. P. Mission have no doctor ready to place: there in his absence.

NAVYL AND SHIPPING NEWS.

The Eleano, American gunboat from Manila, which arrived on the 16th, left us on the 20th to return thither. She is a very miniature craft, being only 500 tons, and needs to choose good weather for her trip across. We have no man o'-war in hatbour

The S.S. Glenfalloch and the S.S. Hongwan have come and gone with large shiploads of Chinese coolies on board, bound for the rubber plantations and the mines in the Straits Settlements, Ma'ncen and Dutch Indies.

THE WET WEATHER.

Luckily the wet weather continues, with occasional breaks, and interspersed with logs and short North-easters. The hearts of the agricultural, population are much rejoiced, though some are saying they have had enough; But we can put up with an over supily, if only our wells become full

AN INSPIRATION FOR LIFE.

Preaching at Wanchai on Sunday from Isniah XL, vorse 31, the Roy. O. Bone said, -The last paragraph of this chapter prosents us with a splendid contrast. On the one hand is the Eternal, omnipotent in strongth, and fathoniless in understanding. On the other the most perfect creation of his strength and understanding, -a youth But the contrast goes further. The youth is faint and weary. He has overwrough his strength. He trembles and then falls prone upon the ground. He can do no more. But "God the Lord, the Creator of the ends of the earth fainteth not neither is weary."-Nay, he has strength for the Youth. Though he "spreadoth out the heavens as a tent to dwell in " he can still regard the fainting youth. He bendeth over him as a strong father over his wearied son, " "He giveth power to the faint, and to those who have no might be increaseth strongth." . The lesson of the text is that it shows the connection between the two,-the strong and the weak. One of the problems in modern life is to bring the weak in connection with the strong. How can the MONDAY, April 17 blineedy stand before those who have and to spare? Until recently, in England, men TUES, and WED., April 18th and 19th wanted work, and on the other han . employers wanted labour. How were they to be brought into contact with each other? The workmen's bureaus have partialy bridged the difficulty. In China to-day, in the Kangsu province, there is a terrible famine. In a recent account I saw that in the rush for food on one day twenty were moled to death. Yet in Capton Shanghai there is plenty. But there is no connection between the two. There are no railways, no deep water courses for boats. So, with plenty in the land, the people perish. The crying need is some means of intercommunication. So here we have strength and weakness. Is there some connection possible between the two-so that strength may holp weakness? There is. The text gives it. "They that wait upon the Lord shall renew their This chapter was one of mighty confort to those to whom it was first spoken an anti-climax, but they do not understand

Some cynics may that the closing verse is it. On the surface it appears to be so "Flying, running, walking." What then? Standing still, lying, sleeping. Wait a little, and we shall sec.

The words were spoken first of all to slaves in Babylon. "Comfort ye comfort ye, my people." These words are somewhat vague. They mean "Take comfort, take comfort 0 my people. They were slaves. They toiled at the oars of their canqueror's galleys; they worked in their quarries; they dug in their mines they carried water from their tanks for THE Undersigned beg to inform the irrigation. Now the cry went forth, "take comfort ye shall be free." What did tha mean to them? If you read the old stories Some of them kneeled upon the ground, and thanked God that they should feel the lash of the taskmaster he more. If you -road the annals of slavery of the Southern States of America, when children were torn from their parents and sold for ever, you will understand. Slavery was, as Wesley described it, "the sum of all villanies." Now they were free. But that was not all. They were to return to the hills of their fathers. True they had never seen them, But they had listened to the stories of their grandfathers, who told of Carmel and fhe blue sea. And they loved the land that the Undersigned, formerly carrying on gave their fathers birth. Now, "The business as Building Contractor in ransomed of the Lord shall return and come to Zion, with songsand everlasting joy upon their head." The message was one of great

But they had to make the journey There were on flying machines then; there were no motors then; there were no express trains then. They must tram the journey of about seven hundred miles. They must march across burning plains; they must scale precipitous hills; they must wade through swamps; It was a long, weary march. I have heard N. LI HON FAN, a Chinese graduate some of our men talk of the march of Lord versed in literature, has been a teacher to European officials and increhants in this Roberts up through the Orange Free State in South Africa. As the troops marched forward, man after man fell out. They could not walk the long, long marches without being wenry and fainting by the way They were left behind. Here then was the great and glowing promise. At times they should "mount up as on the wings of engles." At other times they should run and not be weary." But in any case, "they should walk and not faint." And after all the man who can walk and not faint, is sure to get to the end-of his urney, and that is the thing aimed at. does not matter a great deal whether he can always run or not, but it does matter whether he shall have strength enough to wilk and not faint. So you see that the promise is one of great comfort, for promised them a safe return, and it promised thom that they should realize this without extreme wenriness.

We take this thought and apply it to ourselves for a few minutes more. It is a great and cheering promise for us. If we fulfil-the condition, and . wait upon the Lord." wo too, in life, in all its stages ... "aball walk walk and not faint."

It is a great promise for every day life. A young bride and bridegroom start life together. They have thought in their youthful love that together they would be able to ! mount up as on the wings of engles." But by and bye the way seemed rougher and they found that things were not so casy as they thought. Still if they have (Con injud on Page 3.)

A City Constable

Nervous Depression, Lassitude, Rheumatism

From all lands deputations come to study the method which has made the London Constable superior to all others. "The method by which I make myself equal to my work," says Constable Lawrence, "consists of taking Phosferine at intervals, as in this way I keep myself aleit mentally and physically." Since taking Phosferine, Constable Lawrence can remain yon "point" duty in all weathers, controlling the amazing volume of City traffic, without experiencing the terrible nerve strain and weariness which formerly distressed him. Even amongst men who excels Constable Lawrence is known as an exceedingly capable officer, equal to any emergency, and he declares that Phosferine alone enables him to maintain himself in this fine condition.

Quite removed.

Constable Lawrence, 398, High Road, Tottenham, writes: - "Possibly there is not an occupation more nerve trying than that of a point-duty policeman, especially when the roads are slippery and the drivers have a difficulty in holding up their horses. Add to this, the skidding of motor omnibus and the dodging of taxi-cabs, &c., it will be seen that my duty is not a pleasant one. I am sure that no one would care to change places with us for more than a few minutes, for it would at once be felt that the dangers are too numerous to cope with. Policemen look big, strong men, but are just as likely to get run down in health as other men, and this is what happened to me sometime ego, when I suffered from headaches, nerve-depression, lassitude and rheumatic pains. After trying many remedies, I was recommended Phosserine, and can say that it is a wonderful renewer of health, and seems to put fresh life into one from the first dose. I am now quite myself again, and very thankful that Phosferine was brought to my notice."—March 5, 1910.

God with thom, if they "wait upon the Lord they shall walk and not faint." Mutual love, mutual assistance, and mutual forboarance will so mould together the life of the two that it shall become one, and through life together they shall go, and "shall walk and not faint."

I sometimes ask men why they enlisted in the army. The reply frequently is, "1 wanted to see the world.". At first all was ..... fresh and new. Many companions, new scenes, new countries, new freedom, not withstanding discipline, these things nade life pleasant and easys. But, by and bye, the freshness wore off and there was a samoness. Things were greyer than at first. But to you the promise also comes. If you "wait upon the Lord" in your in your service, in your harder hours, work, you too "shall walk and not faint."

It is true of the missiopary's life. A first all is reseate and purple. We thought that men were hankering for the message. I distinctly remember the hours which I passed with a friend of mine, still in China, as we walked the deck of the steamer going up to Canton. How rigid the scene is still! I remember the words he uttered. I recall the first Chinese service. which was the Sunday for administering Holy Communi n. What throbs of joy I I felt that I could "mount up with wings as cagles." But more days brought offer experiences. Many days brought dis appointments. But still I can say this Sideboard, Dinner Waggon, Bookcase, Card morning, with a good deal of life behind. me, that it is still true here also tha "they that wait upon the Lord shall walk and not faint."

It is true also of individual Christian life. This is most important of all. Those who have been suddenly converted have found that, in their new found joy, intheir new relationship with God that "they could mount up with wings as eagles." Here again one recalls other days and other experiences. One thought that new-found joy would never pale, and would never wane. But other days came and things began to assume their every day dress, and at times there were difficulties and temptations. But up till to-day we can guarantee the actua' truthfulness of the promise of the text, "They that wait upon the Lord," at least "shall walk and not faint".

My brothron, let us learn the lesson of this promise. Most life, either temporal or apiritual, is plod, patience, pluck. It is, in the languageof the text, "walking." Let us feel the inspiration of the great promise; We "wait upon the Lord," we shall then receive strength for every duty. Those who continually "wait upon the Lord " may " mount up as on the wings of angles;" they "shall "at least " walk and not faint." and this will certainly bring us safely to our journey's oud.

Major Haushofor, a German officer who spent two years in Japan, has been lecturing recently to his countrymen on the subject of "Military education outside the Army in Japan." He pointed out that even more than European Powers, Japan is convinced that the capability of a nation in important crises reats not unity on the striking force of ber army and fleet, but above all on the tons and readiness for solf-sacrifice of the untire people. The lecturar proceeded to describe the character of the education imparted to the Japanese from their carlicat days, both mental and physical, and drow a lesson therefor for Germany as regards the maintenance of a Living national spirit.

ILLEGAL EXACTIONS.

For sometime at Fatshan there has been trouble with the lekin authorities, inasmuch as the new director has been trying by all moans, legal and illegal, to increase the income. Recently a broker received from Kwangel a hundred thousand pounds of refuso bean and peanut cake, from which the oil had been extracted. This is extensively used in the south as manure. The lekin director pounced upon the consignment, and when the broker refused to pay any impost, he sent men who soized the entire cargo and carried it off to his ownstores. Of course there was a furious discussion, for the broker asserted that up to the present no tax had been levied upon cake, and apparently he was right. Meanwhile the matter was referred to the Provincial tronsurer at Canton, and his decision requested. He ruplied that the imposition was an innovationand must not bolevied. When however the broker went to recover his goods, being escorted by soldiers; he found that instead of there being one hundred thousand pounds of cake available there were only sixty thousand, and the lekin authortities asserted that this was all the original cargo amounted to, for it had stood untouched. So the matter atands at present and neither party, is willing to give way. The inference is that, when the lekin authorities saw that the decision was going against them, they sold forty thousand nounds of the cake in order to get their ahare out of the eargo, whatever the Treasurer might say.

WILL THE RACE CEASE TO BE WHITE?

In the Contemporary for February Professor L. W. Lyde discusses the relation between climate and racial skin colour. Thanks to improved sanitary precautions, it has been shown, as in Queensland, that white labour actually pays. The white man can do hard outdoor labour in the tropics; and in the first instance the stimulation of excessive light will probably cause his labour to be peculiarly effective if he keeps from drink and other excesses. But acclimatisation in the tropics will involve changes of colour.

COLOUR A PROTECTION AGAINST DANGEROUS RAYS. Natural skin colour is a protective adaptation against the dangerous rays of sunlight. The Professor says :-

If pigment is developed according to need, and if black stops more rays than brown, and brown than yellow, we ought to be able to delimit climatic colour zones: and no individual or race can expect to flourish in any such zone unless protected artificially or naturally by the degree of pigment normally necessary for the zone, as no plant can survive without sufficient chlorophyll to absorb the rays of the particular wave-length which will break up, the carbonic oride of the air.

COLOUR ZONES. The black skinsamong men will be found, because needed, in the hottest parts of the world that are unforested. The whitest ekins are found where the local relief gives most access inland to moist winds under cloudy skies in high latitudes—that is, Europe Intermediate between the black skin and the white is the yellow, the product of desitcating grasslands in temperate climates. The Professor continues :--Comparison of the mean isotherm of 80° CITANDING in its own growtes with F. with the mean annual isohyet of ten inches inside the tropics suggests, then, that about 25 N. and S. are the natural limits of black skins and that White people trying to settle inside these limits must wear coal-black underclothing of some animal fabric, wool or silk, and outer clothing of pure white colour and vegetable origin, cotton or flax. Even then everyone out-of-doors should-as a counsel of perfection-wear spectacles and be closely

> There is a climatic propriety in the love of naturally brown-skinned peoples for clothing of colours from the low end of the spectrum, specially red and yellow.

SEWRITE TROPABLY DOOMED TO DISAPEAR. The southern limit of the untauned white man must be fixed at about 55 degrees N .- that is the latitude of Copenhagen-while a tanned white man is a native of 45 degrees to 55 degrees N. The Professor concludes with this dark outlook :---If any White man can settle in the tropics, it is this tanned White man; but probably only the Yellow man can settle there, and the blonde. White is probably doomed to disappear, off the tace of the earth. Pigment is no danger, though unnecessary, in high latitudes, while the absence of it is fatal in low latitudes without precautions which no ordinary White men will systematically adopt; and there fore the Dark can intrude permanently into the domain of the Fair with more saccess than the Fair can intrude into the

KWANGTUNG AND LOCAL

TAXATION.

Honokong is not the only place

in South China where the question of taxation is exercising the minds of those responsible for the carrying on of government. The same anxiety, and indeed, a more keen restlessness,

issues of the Chung Kwok Po clearly appearing in the columns of our contemporary a series of discussions as to taxes generally and the probable increase in the levy upon tobacco.

With regard to this latter two rates

of taxation are a proposed, the one dealing with the leaf and the other with cut tobacco. General anxiety also prevails about the suggested taxes which are to take the place of the gambling revenue. In appears that much real concern is shown in regard to this because the income is already carmarked, either for the support of the local military system

or to pay interest on foreign loans

and to discharge foreign indemni

must be forthcoming, and ties. Money for these purposes collection cannot be delayed. Com-and Peking, in order to put things right and prevent disappointment to the Treasury.- We also read of a tax on fresh-water lish, anotheron concubines, and a proposed increase in the duties to be levied upon all animals killed for market. It appears that there have come out to the East, this trip. The lately been some lawsuits in regard Norddeutscher Lloyd have consequently to these imposts, the farmers of the taxes being compelled to have recourse to the courts to secure further Genon probably on the 10th of April, i.e. assistance in collecting their dues. According to current reports there are many who do not pay these taxes themselves, but who stir up quieter people who do thus promoting trouble and creating bad blood Then, further, in the district of Kwang-chau-fu, which extends over a large area and where the taxes are heavy, there has been an examination into the great leakage in fiscal matters which has resulted in the Viceroy being advised to set other men to the work of collecting the taxes, as the task is evidently too heavy for those who up to the present were responsible for their collection. All this means additional cost to apparently there is no other way of secing that the taxes are paid or of preventing trouble. Further than this; it has been decided that the accessories of idol worship shall be taxed. #### BANDMANN'S OPERA COMPANY.

Phenomenal Booking.

Hongkong is evidently going to lay itself out for a rattling-big-dose of enjoyme at on the visit of the Bandmann Opera Company, for although booking only opened yesterday at Moutric's the "rush" has been phenomenal. The tickets taken yesterday represented over $1,000 in value, while up to noon to-day there had been an advance on this figure of about $1,000 more. The bookings for "The Balkan Princess," which is to be presented on the opening and second nights, are particularly heavy and this play is described as quite one of the best of the new numbers.

Modern playwrights, especially of the musical comedy school, appear to have shifted their ground in the search for plot subjects. In the days of the Immortal Bard Italy, Spain and France were in much request. Later Gormany had a vogue, and now the petty Balkan states appear to furnish most of the popular plots. "The Merry Widow," "The King of Cadonia," "The Cho. late Soldier" are examples, and

of A TRIAL TRIP.

The motor boat Marc, which was nunched at Kowloon Dock on the 21s inst., has meanwhile been completed, and the official trial trip took place or Monday afternoon and proved successful in every respect the Tonkin River Rapids, and required as our readers know quite a special design. The Dock Company must be congratulated on the skilful way putting out a boat which meets the special requirements in the highest degree. The dimensions of the boat are __ 60 x 36 ... and on account of her light draft, about

On account of the river being in some places everhung by trees the bont had to be built as low as possible. The treacherous condition of the river with its many rapids and sungs necessitated the great attention as to the reliability of the motor power. It was therefore decided to install original "Otto Motors" of the Gasmotor enfabrik Cologne-Doutz, which are known for their reliability and the trial trip proved that the decision was a right one. The 2 motors are of the 4 cycles, heary duty type, having 4 cylinders each and are fitted with electric ignition and reliable lubrication; each motor Mr Commissioner Oiesen is shortly going has a capacity of 45 H.P. giving the boat a speed of 11 miles per hour. #### H. E. THE CANTON VICER DY AND LOCAL BRIGANDS.

We have already made reference to the special attention which the Viceroy of, Canton is giving to the condition of many of the country districts under his control. He has now sent forth several commissioners, whose duty it is to look into local afficire. They are instructed to see what prisoners have been behended, and what number have been imprisoned. Further they are to bring pressure to bear upon the [American]. geveral district magistrates in order that continuously to clear their counties and districts of marapders. Moreover the local officials are allowed a definite time for getting the thing done, and they are to his first commission in the regiment in report to the Viceroy what the results of April, 1900, and served with it in the South their renewed energy amount to. Further the various local militin, as well as the local police are to be rearranged as the commissiquers may suggest to meet the altered needs of the localities.

REVIEW.

THE CHINA MAIL.

The Educational Reform in China by NENRY BLAIR GRAYBILL. Hongkong, Kelly &

This brochute on educational reform in China contains one hundred and thirty eight pages. It is provided with a table of contents, a proface, and an "outline." The subject is not an easy one to handle offectively, because the ground to be covered is very extensive, and the present condition of education in the Empire is somewhat of a tangle. The first half of the book is review of the educational methods which have obtained in China in the past, and in this review a good deal of information is available for the render. Dr A. Smith, and Dr W. A. P. Martin-always guidesare frequently quoted. Among the external stimuli which have effected Chineso thought, and so modified her education, are foreign political influences, and the Christian propaganda. Contact with "Westerners! has not always been clevating. "The carly traders-and their race is not extinct -were usually a rough lot of sea rovers, who made a bad impression on the Chinese The boat is built for towing purposes in They drank and looted and fought among themselves like pirates, as many of them were." Christian Missions, evangelical, educational and medical, have No Subscription. made some impression upon the Chines which they solved this difficult task by mind. The education provided for Chinese youths in 'Hongkong is reviewed, and no words of flattery are used to gloss over defects ... "The chief pin has been to litter clerical work in Government or business employments, which is only a half step Logood the old Chinese aim. This has caused multiplication of cheap and crowded schools, of low standard, and so a type of education unworthy of its opportunities. unsuited to a great and advancing people." The author, in dealing with educational reforms in China, seems to assume that the Empress Dowager, and the Emperor Kwang Haui are still alive. These sections may have been written some time ago, and not revised. 'At any rate it is somewhat perplexing to read, "Meanwhile in all th governmental chaos, we observe that the and the people are gradually beginning to disregard her, and to take great interest in the silent and secluded Emperor. This the status of affairs at Peking." From paragraph on page one hundred and thirty the book was written about the year 1907, for we read "since the Empress onen it would seem that this section of retains the throne, and yet carries forward the very reforms that nine years ago roused her ire, etc." We have said that the subject of education in China is a somewhat tangled one, and a young man-who attempts to "blaze" his way through it will find the task difficult; our author has not found it easy. It would seem, however that an authority, who is staling with "education" and therefore with accuracy, should not educate the public in the way indicated in these belated references. Should a second edition of the brochure be called for it would be wise to correct the tenses of the verbs. Moreover, it might not be out of place in a booklet dealing with education, if the war of 1842 must be referred to, to add "so-called" when describing it as the "Opium War."

THE STRANDING OF THE CARNAR VONSHIRE,

Court of Inquiry at Kobe.

At the British Consulate-General at Kobe, on March 16th, a Court of Inquiry was opened into the cause and circumstances attending the stranding of the Shire line S.S. Carnaryonshire, which, it will be remembered, went ashore on Nahashima on the morning of the 6th instant, while on a voyage from Nagasaki to Kobe. Mr R. de B. Layard, British Consul General at Kobe, was President of the Court, the other niembers being Captain R. O. Cragge, of the S.S. Epsom, and Captain Fullerton, of the S.S. Baron Cawdor. Sworn evidence was taken of Capt.-W F. Gregory, Master of the S.S. Carnarvonshire; Robert Oswald Chisholm, Second Mate: Alfred Ernest Smith, Third Engineer: Captain Kenzaburo Kataura, of the Inland Son Pilots' Association (in charge of the steamer at the time of the accident); W. Jas. Lamb, Chief Engineer; and Jonus Carison, Quartermaster.

The Court, in its finding, expresses the opinion that the stranding was due to the vessel being mught suddenly in an eddy current which caused her to take a sheer o 5 points against the helm, which sheer was probably aggravated by a natural tendency of the vessel to cant with her head to port the evidence of some of the witnesses going to prove that such a tendency exists. 1 was also found that no blame attaches toin mester officits, crew or plict of the venuel in regard to the ensualty, and that the ship was properly supplied with charts. Captain Gregory was ordered to bear the costs of the Court, amounting to £6 0s. 7d.
